Stacy found an available Art studio that might be of interest. Artist At Work Studios in Lexington (on Main Street) has a small artist studio available for rent (the rent is under $200 per month). I have a studio there and love it. Might be something a TAG member would like to know about. The owners phone is 803.391.2482 and his name is Carey Fluitt.

TAG WORKSHOPS

Oil painting with Kevin LePrince THIS MONTH!!!!

Kevin LePrince Trenholm Artists Guild Workshops
October 16 - 17, 2009, Forest Lake Rec Center

$300 for 2 day session which includes paints and panels. Students would only need easel, brushes, rags, and container for the spirits. The workshop will be fun and move fast. It is appropriate for all levels of artists. Students can expect to finish at least two paintings. Kevin LePrince paints classical subject matter in the "alla prima" style, meaning "at once". His wet on wet method is combined with a traditional impressionistic palette consisting of two blues, two reds and two yellows. His paintings are very recognizable and are full of light, energy, and personality. He is recognized for his ability to recreate a natural scene with his painterly technique. Under the tutelage of renowned artist John Carroll Doyle, LePrince was trained in the classic atelier or studio system. He has studied with master artist David A. Leffel, Kim English and Gregg Kruetz at the Arts Students League of New York and the Fetching Institute in New Mexico. Although influenced by his instructors, LePrince developed his individual style, which has received much attention from local and national collectors alike. Many of his paintings are followed with clever titles, such as "The Mob Squad," consisting of a cluster of egrets wading together in the water, or "Take Out," an egret entering the shoreline in search of food.

See www.KevinLePrince.com for more information on the artist.

Your check of $100 is your reservation with the remaining $200 due by October 1. Please make checks payable to TAG.

Value/Temperature System Painting with Joyce Hall

January 15 & 16, 2010 $200 for 2 day sessions which includes a $50 wooden and glass palette

"The value painting workshop is a system that I have worked out over the years for recognizing the value and temperature of everything that you see and how to paint it.

It includes a custom wood enclosed glass palette with removable sliding lid and brass handle.

I require that all my students take this workshop within the first year of their studies. I teach it quarterly in Charleston and have taught it out of town as well. It is always full with a waiting list. Everyone who has taken it has said it changed their lives as painters and taught them to put together everything they had learned but were struggling with.

The course includes a custom made glass and wooden palette that I designed and have made for these workshops (a $50 value)."

Send your check to Donna Reid at 25 Lyme Bay Road, Columbia SC 29212 or give it to her at the September meeting.

All reservations must be made by September 21. If we do not have enough people signed up, the board has the right to cancel and your money will be refunded. Questions: Stacy Morgan 356-6206

Having left a promising career in equine studies to focus on furthering her artistic abilities, Hall paints exquisitely vivid and profound oil paintings and has been recognized by numerous organizations for her alluring works of art.

Joyce is a member of the prestigious Oil Painters of America and the Society of Animal Artists, N.Y. Joyce's work has been recognized around the country with many shows, and she has also been featured in many national magazines, books and posters.

Your check of $100 is your reservation with the remaining $100 due by December 20. Please make checks payable to TAG. Send your check to Donna Reid at 25 Lyme Bay Road, Columbia SC 29212 or give it to her at the November meeting. All reservations must be made by December 20. If we do not have enough people signed up, the board has the right to cancel and your money will be refunded. Questions: Stacy Morgan 356-6206
